THE CRITICAL INCIDENT TEAM SHOULD MEET AT THE START OF EACH SCHOOL YEAR.

CRITICAL INCIDENT MANAGEMENT POLICY,
St. Joseph's, Fairview, Dublin 3.

St. Joseph's aims to protect the well-being of its students by providing a safe and nurturing environment at all times.

The school has taken a number of measures to create a coping, supportive and caring ethos in the school. The school has also formulated a number of policies and procedures to be followed with a view to ensuring the physical and psychological safety of both staff and students during the normal course of the school day and in the event of a critical incident. Such policies include:

- Health and Safety Policy.
- Anti-Bullying Policy.
- Code of Behaviour.
- Guidance and Counselling Policy.
- S.P.H.E Programme.
- Child Protection Procedures.

Physical safety

Our Health & Safety policy includes evacuation plan, regular fire drills, annual maintenance of fire exits and extinguishers and the supervision of students in the school etc.

Psychological safety

The management and staff of St. Joseph's aim to use available programmes and resources to address the personal, social, emotional, mental and spiritual development of students, to enhance a sense of safety and security in the school and to provide opportunities for reflection and discussion.

Promoting Health and Preventing Infection

Integral to the success of any infection control programmes is the education of all staff members, who in turn should pass on the information to the students. Thus promotion of personal hygiene, of hygienic practices and the prevention of infection becomes an integral part of the school curriculum. The school community with the intervention of the HSE is current with immunisations. Parents are included in this team approach to infection control. A co-operative approach with ready dialogue between parents and the school ensures a healthy environment for all. Parents are encouraged to inform the school of any infectious illness in their children. In turn the school informs parents if there are any outbreaks of infection in the school.

This Critical Incident Management Policy is just one of many policies aimed at safeguarding and supporting the school community.

Definition of Critical Incident:

St. Joseph's, Fairview recognises a critical incident to be

“An incident or sequence of events that overwhelms the normal coping mechanisms of the school”.

Levels of Critical Incident

With the varied nature of critical incidents, the school needs to clarify the kind of response which is required for each level of incident.

Level 1: the death of a student or staff member who was terminally ill; the death of parent/sibling; a fire in the school not resulting in serious injury or serious damage to school property.

Level 2: the sudden death of a student or staff member.

Level 3: unexpected tragic incident: an accident/event involving a number of students; an infectious or contagious disease outbreak in the school; a violent death; an incident with a high media profile or involving a number of schools.

Aim of the Plan

The aim of the Critical Incident Plan is that in the event of such an incident as outlined above, the plan will help staff and management to react quickly and effectively and to maintain control of the situation. The plan will also help the school to return to normality as soon as possible and limit the affects of the incident on staff and students.

2. Principal to convene a Critical Incident Management Team meeting as soon as possible that evening or very early the next morning before commencement of normal school day, specify time and place.
 - Agree on a Press Statement for students, parents and the media in consultation with the Media Advisor. Decide arrangements for support meetings for students, staff and parents. Establish procedures for contact with absent staff and pupils.
 - Principal to convene a meeting of staff (teachers, SNAs, office, caretaking) an hour later, but again if possible at least an hour before the start of the normal school day. Input from NEPS.
 - If incident occurs on a Friday evening, decision to be taken on whether or not to open the school on Saturday and Sunday when students can meet up and share their thoughts and feelings with one another and with staff members.
 - Be conscious of the need to have additional supervisors and substitute teachers in place on a school day for staff involved in managing the critical incident...
 - Discuss which rooms will be available to students and external agencies.
 - Agree on which phone line is to be kept open for outgoing and incoming emergency calls.
 - Agree schedule for the school day (normal timetable as much as possible).
 - Inform students of agreed facts – not speculation – in their own class groupings. Close friends (and students with learning difficulties with their SNA) may need to be told separately. Teachers should give students the opportunity to talk about what has happened and temporarily shelve all academic activities if necessary. While NEPS personnel will be there to advise the staff, students need to be with people they know and trust.
 - Identify and compile a list of vulnerable students and agree on referral procedures. A record should be kept of all students seen by school staff and agencies external to the school. One person should be appointed to collate the lists regularly.
 - Decide whether a quiet room should be made available for students, which must be supervised at all times. Students sign out of their regular class and sign into the quiet room for a certain time. Inform parents as soon as possible by text and letter.
 - Keep in regular contact or visit the bereaved family.
 - Hold end of day staff briefing for updates, feedback and collegial support.
 - Review the Critical Incident Management Plan with Team and plan for the next day.

- Discretion is also advised in relation to any memorials to victims, depending on the circumstances.

Follow-up – 3 days and beyond

Staff monitor students for signs of continuing distress and identify students who are particularly vulnerable or in distress.

If, over a period of time, a student continues to display the following, he may need assistance and/or counselling. Constant communication with family is essential.

- Deterioration in academic performance.
- Physical symptoms — e.g. weight loss/gain, lack of attention to appearance, tiredness, restlessness.
- Inappropriate emotional reactions.
- Increased absenteeism.
